PREAMBLE

“All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood”.

Article 1 of Universal Human Rights Declaration which has universal reference both legally and morally is the core of living and the activities of every individual must be to this specification to establish world peace, to live longer satisfying the purpose of living and getting what we want. We had crossed the stage of availing what we need for which we were forced to move as a group compromising our priorities. Advancement in civilization has given a wide exposure to every individual that he must be able to claim what he want and with the suggestions and opinions given on his claim, he will be able to come up equipping himself to be the perfect fit and there the human development leads to absolute peace and harmony holistically. The legal instruments are to regulate individuals assuring them of their status and pointing only the mistakes to be corrected. The conviction will come if the individual is indicated of the impacts which will affect him too. Conscience of reasoning is very much essential in social forum and the ignorance of the people involved should not be the reason for rejection but inclusive. They must be made to focus on the core purpose, draw out inferences by themselves and solve the issue for the best of all involved .It is proven fact that if establishing peace is the core objective of the arbitration, if reaching the purpose is the core objective of the people involved in the conflicts, they will get ample of solutions benefitting all which their stance to fight against each other will not bring to themselves even. Any issue of the past can be analyzed in this way to realize the truth. To live with the spirit of brotherhood is not compromising to the majority to gain the livelihood, but giving convincing facts to draw cooperation that the best of potentials of all will be to use to the society. It is the scenario where an individual can play his due role without any barriers and hurdles that it is the right time to establish the human rights of an individual. The binding regulations that deprive the quality of living are to get reformed to giving the space to perform that one reaches his best of efficacy on his own and live with confidence taking all that he finds are for his good. Blames and coercion are for inability to handle the issue. Fear of losing an opportunity is absurd for the world offers unlimited opportunities to everyone which he could not avail to the whole even with his life time extended to infinity. Individual specific space provides connectivity and contribution where as majority specific space provides intersection of interests and negativity. In this article the necessity for the transition to the mass specific attitude to individual specific attitude is detailed to draw the attention of viewers for the best of social building.

SPECIAL ISSUE ON “THE NEW YOU”

INTRODUCTION:

All natural processes are cyclic and so is the human development. It happens in concentric circles and not in a linear path. Civilization started from individual and hence will transform to individual specific in every stage. It is for the understanding of the facts involved in a situation and how one responds to that situation. The same improves for the exposure and the experiences gained that it gets refined always and leads to progression. All the policies and principles that have been framed for group living as habits, traditions and culture are to get transformed to individual specific culture for the better understanding of the world, the opportunities available and the skills and confidence everyone has built to face the world. It is the new you, the originality, which is inherited that is going to give out the best of you, every one too. For being the original, you don't have to stress yourself much. Simply sharing what we want and accept suggestions to reach the same will make you all new for there cannot be predefined principles and formats that suit all. The social conduct right from family, through friends to society all followed the leadership skills for which the one who emerges out progressively beyond the expected average performance proved himself to be successful as leader. Later on for the authenticity and responsibility understood as authority and power, the dominance and tricks of people played role as leadership skills which is evading out now as the egalitarian attitude of individuals had established for the children being the only child of their family, they do not want to follow, but take up good deeds as their own holistically. It is showing various hues as authority, domination, competition, competency, friendliness, brotherhood and so on for their exposure that it is the individual culture that fixes one in the social forum constructively. There cannot be the instructions and wishes of one that will get established for commons but the wishes of every common civic finds its way. This needs a total reformation, but a welcoming change contradictory to the normal expected trend of hardships to experience the transformation. One can be as he is to the core, transparent to the world and he has to take the due responses true to his performance that he moves up with conviction. Similarly, he gets true confidence to stand on his own that he makes the defense to drive away the preset assumptions and unwarranted criticisms. The new you, is easy to acquire. The new you, is easy to convince and the new you gives you all that you want that you are your own teacher, mentor, friend, guide, philosopher and so on. The new you, is to your utmost satisfaction that you don't compete, but gain competency. The society then will contribute to you, get what they want and there won't be intersections of interests, but absolute satisfaction of everyone. The fiat money system, having served the purpose as let it be done, is transforming itself to providing it to all. The niche group, the facilitators are to affluence now that they could move to understand the basic job requirements to which they are committed and they could mend people to become self sustained with confidence.

The rituals and rules that have been framed for the society and government are to the individuals expanding the purpose of the same that it includes the originality of an individual. It gives constructive space for conviction and hence leads to mindful development of all concerned. Under this concept, individual culture of global society, all that have been prevented so far as restrictions can be done with due regulations. Nothing becomes the possession, but the pride to share with all. It gets multiplied for that habit of sharing is natural as against the habit of getting isolated. There is absolute inclusion of all concerned that it needs no push, but gets all that one wants easily. This assured accomplishment, make all contribute that there can no longer be negative emotions and pull downs.

The traits that have been built for social well being, for mass living are to get transformed to individual specific attitude that need to be understood as the foundation for global development. It is not the image but the truth that is going to rule the world. It is not the virtue but the status of one that is going to give him what he wants. It is not the majority justice but the moral justice of an individual that is going to prove him innocent.

It is not the independence but the individuality that is going to liberate him with responsibilities. It is not the hard work but mindful activity that makes his position convinced. It is not the ethics but the moral values of possession make him inclusive in a scenario, exceptionally important in that scenario. It is not the busy schedule but the effective schedule that makes the contribution of one always progressive and unavoidable. It is not the responsibility but concern that is going to play due role in the society beyond limits. It is not the competition but competency that is going to give assured success to an individual undoubtedly, it is not the physical presence but the real time presence that makes the competency established, it is not amity by compromise, but amity by conviction that is going to establish world peace, it is not arbitration through rules of caution, but regulations of conscience that is going to establish truth to the concerned, it is not sustainability and fear to move , but the progression and cheer to move forms the evolution much visible, and it is not simply the survival amidst all odds, but living amidst all evens. What forms the basis to all is the use of virtual space that tunes the cautious through conscious to conscience. It is art of living, knowing through feeling to being. That is education in the global scenario ever which had been restricted for the limited resources we had and that is being liberated now for the virtual space that makes the global reach with a finger touch. The illusions of life as time, space, power, wealth and knowledge are not eternal, they change ever and ever that the same can never be the constraint for the true growth of an individual. In the move to establish individual culture, all these illusions have been fixed as quality based assessment which is individual specific and progressive always and has no rejection at all that growth from the existing situation is assured. At any point of consideration, there is no chance of deprivation at all. This makes the true status being established and the simplistic procedure of governance and social forum becomes simplicity to include all.

Majority and moral justice

JUSTICE IS NOT SUPPORT, BUT CONVICTION OF THE INVOLVED.

The constitution of every nation and the universal declaration of human rights have been framed with such a flexibility to include every scenario of living irrespective of timeline that it is the stringent rules that have been framed to meet the timeline blocks the growth and thus conviction. The rules for majority are for the average performance and there are always outliers to the expected average. The understanding of the executors of rules is so poor that they restricted the performance only to the average. The rules do permit outliers with due justification that the majority justice is not the status of the majority people only.

EVEN AN INDIVIDUAL CAN GENERATE
WORLD, WITH HIS MORAL INSTINCT

The majority justice is the rule of the anarchy for they considered themselves as the exceptional and outstanding and the hardships they underwent to reach such a status are not minimized out of experience or expertise but made still tougher for the intelligence that getting through their rigid, clueless standards are the real problems in the development. The moral justice is what one could justify of his best. The same includes his personal space and temperament that conviction of the job done and the quality of the social conduct established helps the assessment. For the majority, the work time may be eight hours a day but the same need not be to the minute accuracy. One can always prove he does the required volume of job within five hours, and works extra if the situation demands and his extraordinary potential deserves due credentials. There cannot be rumours if the volume of job done justifies the same and is transparent to all.

The affairs of the people are to the core is decided by the family principles and they are based on the traditions and culture of their region and they are almost followed as rituals and the purpose of the same is not perceived. Having been followed as rituals, the squeezing customs find changes for the rapid world, which diverts the purpose. They have a strong bond in the peoples mind for they are the tools to serve their wishes that there will be aggressive and negative emotions exhibited if there is an attempt to change and which is important to protect the purpose. For example, the office hours are generally between 9.00 to 5.00 and the stipulation is to make the physical presence set to give mindful contribution for a period of five hours. Focus of assessment and justification by the administrators are to project the volume of work and the quality of work done to meet the mission and vision of the organization that the physical presence becomes individual specific and purpose oriented. The administrators sometimes use it as a tool to execute authority that makes the conflict permanent and permits the same to remain detached to the mission and vision of the organization that the growth becomes corporeal and finance oriented. The head of the organization, department, and family must be able to include, convince and execute the rules for the majority benefit that all involved will receive individual specific attention. When they become liberal and lean towards illegal personal benefits and flattery, the majority will fix it as success strategy and in that scenario, the affairs of the people stagnate, work towards easy, ill strategies that will regress the very purpose of living. Moral justice is related to conscience and majority justice is to the level to which the majority could get convinced. When it is the reach of an individual, the moral justice may go close to ideal situations, for the different tactics and the mass the majority has, it is difficult to move up in the majority justice with respect to social stance of the affairs of public is sustained. The core lies in exposing them to facts, make them convinced of the outcome that the changes will be holistic. At this point it would be easy to understand what justice is. It is not something stipulated, it is the one which is accepted for the majority having assured of their personal space, the dignity. The time line is immaterial if the personal space is assured for one. His duty becomes his responsibility holistically. He will not have any limitations that his contributions will become his best ever. Tuning the moral justice of an individual is progressive, where as restricting the reach of an individual with the constraints for the masses as majority justice is regressive.

Virtue and conduct

Virtue is actually meeting the standards and conduct, being the original. Virtue is expected in the mass media to define a model for a particular task and that sets the standards for the majority in the average forum to follow. In order to rise up to the leadership level, one must Virtue and conduct set himself to meet this standards which will not be his own way where he gets squeezed up and end up in a messy situation which frightens, suppresses others too to move up to the standards. They do not wish to fail and refrain from taking steps to further that there occurs stagnation and the standards ever remain a day dream. Also it is forced to accept the best available that the system goes down in its performance. It furthers the regression and dilution in the performance that would encourage other mean attitudes to flourish which is not healthy. Conduct on the other hand is to put forth what best is available and for his best he receives credits and suggestions that could convince him of the facts that he moves up with confidence correcting, upgrading himself. In this scenario too what best available is accepted but is not compared to the set standards that the conviction makes him focused on the purpose. This makes contribution from all among the forum the net performance of the system is always progressive.

CONDUCT IS EVER THE TRUE STATUS OF ONE.

Though there are no set standards as virtue, the conduct receives transformation holistically that there will not be conflicts and pull downs. Unlike meeting the set standards that always gives a vacuum, the conduct for the purpose gives a self satisfaction and a momentum to further in the right direction. When virtue leads to criticisms, conduct, being self responsible, gives way to suggestions that could improve the performance. Conduct is individual specific and thus accepts what is given where as virtue expects standards and that is always mass specific, what had been defined for a particular status. In the era of internet, and with the global exposure, it is very difficult to get satisfied with virtue that is appearing as conflicts thus it is high time to move to individual culture by accepting their space is due for them. There need not be encroachments, there need not be intersection of interests, and all have their due place to perform that there need to be only contributions if the fare share of others is expected by an individual.

In the present context, virtue is not necessary, there need to be conviction for the conduct that all become inclusive in the social forum. The activity and purpose gains the priority that there will be always the best of output. If the virtue is given priority, there will not be space for correction and the people ought to accept what a popular man has instructed for his virtue and that attitude is stagnating the progression of governance and social forum too.

Individuality and independence

Every one is born free and endowed with the conscience of reasoning that nothing can be forced upon him for tradition and culture or to facilitate a public scheme. Everyone should be convinced with due reason that the same brings cooperation, mindful support and suggestions. In this scenario, the conflicts will be curtailed healthy with individual efforts that the same will not create any problems in the social forum. When the purpose of conflict is focused to be the welfare of majority there cannot be messy situation diverting the core of the issue to a permanent enmity. Individual efforts are always intuitive and they cannot be validated for the average expectations.

What not is possible for one may be possible for another individual that there need not be generalized predictions. When one is totally driven

FROM THE SYSTEM

with interests and produces possible prospects with his might , he need to be encouraged and there has to be space in the social forum to accommodate such individual efforts. There need to be space always for second curve that the growth pattern of an individual should not be restricted with calendar, limitations and power. One will give out his best only if he is free from illusions like time, space, power, knowledge and wealth. The advent of virtual space has offered the best of comfort zone to every individual that he is liberated from social influences and only his skill takes him to wherever he wants and assures whatever he wants. This makes the spectrum of opportunities boundless that there are numerous connections and platforms with which an idea gets implemented. In this scenario, it becomes essential to avail the fundamental rights vested upon an individual and only that makes the society grow beyond the boundaries of traditions, culture and resources. Rights are not power but responsibilities. When there is space for individuality, the responsibility entrusted upon self makes one always grow and resourceful that there is possibility to reach perfection and gain cooperation from others. This contribution is not symbiotic but unconditional that the frequency and aura set forth in an environment is conducive and comfortable to all involved. There need not be hierarchy to control, but there need to be involvement to regulate the system to bring out the best of all concerned. Independence on the other hand is complete liberation from the core and the status will not have any connectivity that will fragment the attitude, promote it to be authoritative, dictating, gather a mass to nod their head for all that one does and finally lead to disaster and irrecoverable. The dangerous part of it is the effect is not seen or felt till it reaches an irrevocable situation that one need to have connectivity by enacting individuality with skill development that contributes to others progression that in turn benefits the performer. The total independence may win temporarily but for the regression in due course of time will lead to permanent failure. We ought to promote individuality that gives solitude to analyses ones own performance, take the suggestions of others to improve and that will always lead to progression. Independence can be an interim status when things go messy, out of order, to regulate the situation but can never be self motivated to remain uncontrollable altogether. Nature is impulsive, it always exerts connectivity, and the same may not be what we want but always what is due for us that if we follow our intuition, the connectivity in the social forum can never be destructive. Independence leads to enmity where as individuality leads to form a group of conducive frequency that brings us all that we want. Independence is strenuous. Individuality is easy to get in, takeoff in any situation. Independence is aggressive, stagnant and regressive too in the long run. Individuality is resourceful, self relying and is the way to assured success. There is no doubt, there is no risk, but the success is sure. It is simply an accomplishment deriving the due support for the proven performance and not the achievement that makes one exhausted with independence. Independence many times enforces repetitive jobs, where as individuality makes it to be taken as relay by the faith generated out of performance. When individuality is given priority, you need not have to remain intact till the accomplishment, it takes its own way for sure and your fair part reaches you without making you claim for it. Struggle for it. Do not hold anything, it comes to you automatically for your deserving contribution. Negative and aggressive emotions are absolutely unwarranted if your individuality gives you utmost confidence to perform for the purpose and remain self satisfied.

Value and Ethics

Value is individual specific and ethics is predefined standards. Ethics can never suit an individual that it always set idealistic conditions. If the individuality promotes value for an individual, it is progressive and hence acceptable and visualized at every stage of development. The value is not permanent and gives way for evolution that there will be space for conviction. The set standards are always regressive, they not only deprive development, but controls the normal performance too that the calamities are uncontrollable in the recent times. The same throws light upon several factors as reasons and the core lies in the expectations unreachable by an individual yet imposed by the society for their greed. Each one is blessed with an individual, unique trait which will help him fix in the forum. Ethics is basically the true status of a person, that could be a reference for others, not a must. For the social conduct and for the professional success one needs a few basic traits as interest, involvement, and concern that build the ethics of a profession. It need not be set as standards, but could very well be understood as values of an individual. The core lies in understanding an individual and giving him space to know who we are and what our intention is. Value builds our confidence, make us identify what suits us best that we feel satisfied always. This self realization convinces one that he upgrades himself and moves up firmly. Ethics make one always deprived of the standards than conviction that it stagnates him in the place where he is. It is always preferable to value an individual and enhance him with suggestions and space to move up that every individual contributes their best to the system.

VALUE IS SELF ESTEEM

ETHICS IS SOCIAL REGULATION
FOR A POSITION

Hardwork and mindful activity

It is to be noted that the ideas that work well now will not be the same ever and hence no innovation remains eternal. The evolution progresses every idea and this rapid world make it much faster than one could assimilate and make use of it which fixed the urge to go for latest technology and futuristic model to stand in the commercial trend that they lose focus to what optimum a technology could offer for the purpose. This forms a rest, a pressurizing need to check what is absolutely needed and what has been imposed upon to carry on the adversity and popularity. At this point of time, it is essential to realize it is the right time to balance the personal and professional time and there is no need to squeeze as hard work to achieve something, which could be reached much easily with mindful activities. By Brooding over the aspects several times, refining and polishing the aspects to get the optimum and the best of purpose there will be mindful activity that eliminates the unwarranted, improves the efficacy and add to free time giving satisfaction for the confidence in the job. The relaxed state of mind then drives to better performance always. It is to be understood that the civilization has reached its ultimatum that it would break with further loads. There need to be load relief to make the jobs absolutely to the purpose and the stress relief will bring back the performance to the optimum, what is absolutely needed. The time and energy saved offers adequate space for revitalization and growth that the efficiency and output improves with very little effort put forth towards it. We need not exert strenuous efforts. It is for the resources what we have on our own, it will

HARD WORK IS ROUTINE FOR AVERAGE
EXPECTATION

MINDFUL ACTIVITY IS PERSONALISED FOR THE BEST OUTCOME

happen very easily, that gives us a focus what are to be done and what not. Mindful activity offers solitude; it eliminates unwarranted messy situations and complications that the work done meets the purpose absolutely. For this one should be out of traditional and habit based attitude and set to trustworthiness to create faith in others that they could approach us in absolute need and we will make them to be with us in absolute needs. This will take time for conviction at the initial stage but once set will save all our resources and make us comfortable at all occasions. A work done for the purpose will never squeeze one, will never demand hard work and will never make one evacuated at the end. It fills the soul and drives to the purpose and leaves a comfortable environment to move further on. It needs only one aspect which cannot be given with stringent rule but a must to boost performance. There must be flexibility to apply mind with conviction than to respond for time and space as routine. This may not be possible if the physical presence as attendance is aimed at, but can always be possible of the volume of work done is measured and made available transparent to the people around.

Busy and effective schedule

It is for the attitude of the leader to seekings and leadership of the situation, the happened in the scene goes to the leader and the team members gain their benefits only as experience. This made a few to go negative and for the credentials are to the leaders, it made the situation messy and squeezed. Those who wish to move up are to sacrifice their personal space and make them always available for service that it again convinced people to go against rules to gain personal benefits too. This made the family move away from the individual and since there is no morality established for the stance, the total cores went out of order. The advent of globalization and the use of virtual space have fixed this with the corporeal attitude that there need not be responsibility for the leader but coordination to make the right person perform the right job. This made their contribution receive due credentials and the purpose of the job got expanded for the effective sharing that there was no authority of the leader but his authentication played the role. The busy schedule of an individual got justified as effective schedule of all involved to keep the momentum assuring the personal space. The calamities and shocks faced for the busy schedule that demanded compromise of the personal space if one wishes to remain successful got shifted to his own paradigm and his convenience and this is the arena where the talents get due authentication that we don't have to search jobs, we create several for our efficacy. The efficiency of the job is our due share that we need not go till the end, we need not bother for the results, if we fare our due share mindfully, and that momentum fixes that of all that the efficacy is to the best of all. It pays to all involved that there will not be intersection of interests but contribution of others to everyone who wish to avail the same. The effective schedule makes one claim for his rights, his own environment and move away when his role is not needed that the situation is conducive for the best of purpose. There is no custom and tradition, there is no formality but only the purpose is aimed at which makes all to move in an easy to pursue scenario. There is no compulsion and no sacrifice that the likeminded frequency set a comfortable forum of all involved. The need to make a comfortable environment is felt that the conflicts too get resolved in a flexible manner accommodating the best of all involved. Effective schedule involves conviction thus the rationale to analyse the situation. Busy schedule is duty conscious and many times adopted as routine that sets a boredom and mindless discharge of duty transferring the blame to someone else which spoils the scenario. Conviction happens with the skill development that it becomes absolutely essential to get engaged in a job which fills your soul and kindle interest and remain dynamic with innovations.

Responsibility and Contribution

RESPONSIBILITY IS JOB ENTRUSTED
OUT OF FAITH

Responsibility assigns a job as burden and mistakes are not inclusive. There need to be absolute supervision to make the job success and thus responsibility makes one pressurized and the environment he creates is vibrant and squeaky which many times spoils the job to the core. Responsibility is entrusted on an individual who has to keep the progress and many times the purpose as secret and he has to exert the needed job only by executing control and blind orders. This will not make the involved inclusive and they do the job without any interest that the final assembly makes the responsible person struggle a lot. In spite of it, the success is not assures. Instead contribution is the interest shown by an individual to execute a job to its best where there is no expectation as standard that he involves the entire team, he reveals them the purpose, accepts suggestions and redesign the schedule that the people involve with interest and give out their best for the concern of the leader to move as a team's responsibility. This contribution brings out the best with no limitations and the burden will never be felt but only the result is aimed at and that gives the satisfaction to move further ahead that there is no need for push to award and rewards too. The comfortable environment and the freedom to move ahead for the choice of the individual, make them fixed to the job mindfully by all means.

Competition and competency

Competition among a group or between two individuals stagnate the growth and make them find reasons to pull down others in the process of which they lose their progression. It deprives quality and triggers one to be aggressive and find crooked ways to beat one that he cannot rise up again. This victory is meaningless and gives a vacuum even after victory. It builds unwarranted courage to oppose anything and everything and finally the world as a whole becomes an envy. A competitive attitude always makes one to choose tricks rather than own up gradation. Skill development deserves least priority then that conflicts will not be healthy and contributing to global growth. When there is no skill, there need to be tricks to win a situation that becomes the strategy of winners. This not only spoils the concerned but makes every other to follow the same that the whole situation becomes messy. Competency on the other hand is to include all progressively accepting suggestions to improve that there will always be efforts to improve and that competency makes one to transcend and contribute to all. The urge to enhance competency makes the effective schedule to come into practice, that it eliminates intersections and promotes participation of all involved with interest to give out their best. Competency makes one relieved of all pressures and efforts to live with dependency and symbiosis that he moves to live on his own with his design of life that promotes self reliance, satisfaction and an effortless contribution providing platform for all to perform.

COMPETITION

Enhancing competency is not a difficult job, it is much easier than tricks for it includes the originality of the involved, make him to be real that he assimilates facts on his own and gives out holistic transformation. Most of the ailments the society is facing in the recent times are due to pretention, lack of connectivity and attachment to the system and the need to remain cautious that builds pressure. We can be as we are and yet we gain the importance for what we really are and it is very much certain the bond you create is much stronger and wider than what you had earlier with cautious attitude of pretention. Competency is the core of individual stance in social forum.

Real time space and virtual space

REAL TIME SPACE DEMANDS PHYSICAL PRESENCE AND FORMALITIES

Real time space needs our physical presence and the efforts we put forth to make it happen is strenuous that we become tired and exhausted when the purpose calls on and we make it compensated with emotional checks that will not last for a long time. Instead if the purpose is focused there will be ample of reasons for effective communication and conviction, that we maintain a cool temperament and at the same time the efficiency of the performance is improved. If we include the people for their talents, their soul gets triggered and their contribution is much better than what they could give in the routine. If everyone gets involved, there is no burden and force that the task will be performed with utmost contribution from all. The formalities concerned with personal visits are to be relieved taking the advantages of virtual space that all meetings are to be conducted online. All sharing and official proceedings must be online that it eliminates the intruded dilution out of pressure of illusions as time, space, power, wealth and knowledge. Internet makes us avail everything to the best of efficacy irrespective of these illusions that we remain resourceful, independent, contributing and remain connected to the society purposefully. Virtual space offers immediate references and information that there will not be breaks and stagnation but reasons of conviction to move further on. Virtual space conserves reserves, provides space for skill development with conviction and establishes the true status of all involved. Illusions cannot sweep off the situations and purpose that the core purpose of a task is grounded holistically to everyone concerned. Real-time space offers a busy schedule making one stick to illusions knowingly or unknowingly. Virtual space provides conviction, what best one can offer on his own and generates momentum in everyone involved that the efficacy in social stance gets improved holistically.

COMPETENCY ADDS TO HUMAN

Arbitration and amity

Social conduct leads to conflicts. They remain healthy only when the purpose of the job is focused at. But in this rapid world everyone is dumped with loads of information and for which they think themselves big and want to be the centre for which they use all tactics. The majority of the society has faith in active platform that they always wish to be successful which is beyond reality. Success and failure will not be to a person if he performs all his tasks purposefully in transcendence. The conflicts will get anchored to the individuals involved only when everyone want to be successful and that leads to arbitration. The mediation actually is not needed and is mostly general for it is almost based on general judicial norms where as the moral justice is truly linked to the individuals concerned. Many times the moral justice is just opposite to the general arbitration that the efforts in arbitration is not to lead but to provide a space for the involved to share facts and come to a conclusion with conviction. The judicial system should not enforce the judgment on to the concerned, but create conviction among themselves inclusively. What the society needs today is not advancement in social economic sector, technical and science sector but fraternity among the individuals that need to be prioritized. The foremost factor to be considered is the concerned are all inclusive in the judgment that they all move with cooperation hereafter. The judgment should satisfy all involved and should first create the mindful communication to include the concerned. There is no point in eliminating one absolutely for the judgment need to be rigid, no such scenario in reality exists. The rivalry created out of mindless contribution of all involved makes the scenario vibrant which could be to amity if the concerned share what they actually wish to establish. Unfortunately, the social forum made people to remain with a mask of successful individual amidst all illusions that he is focused much on his victory though he stands for a wrong deed by chance. Amity is not compromise to maintain the calm environment, it is giving due conviction to clear the conflicting scenario that the cooperation extended multiplies the benefits. Purpose of a job need to be focused not the ego of an individual for which the virtue and image are to be given up. An individual can never be always successful, if the purpose is focused at, there cannot be biased support that the forum receives the best of contribution from all.

Authority and authentication

AUTHORITY IS DOMINATION

The success of a task remains in the fair share of best by all. Authority is not domination, is not the responsibility entrusted on an individual, power assigned to him to execute control. It is authentication assigned to him to coordinate people, bring out the best of all concerned and to provide a comfortable environment to all concerned. It is not executing restrictions, but regulations to convince all involved. The authentication is actually not mediation, but a transition to bring out the stance of involved constructively towards a better performance. Focus every individual what best could be done progressively with his might that there won't be competition but enhancement of competency. Authentication makes one linked to the concern, where as authority make them all give a detached outlook. The vision and mission of the system to get into every individual holistically with whom one might be able to get his prospects elevated to high performance. Authority provides a distance from the coworkers that there will not be effective sharing, authenticity provides a true link with the hierarchy that everyone will have a clear idea of what could be offered that there will not be intersection of interests.

Respect and concern

Respect is something related to virtue and image, age which may not be eternal. It makes one gain respect out of position and authority that when the same is not there, the difference felt many times lead to ill health and aggressive measures to remain in the social platform till death. Our life is to live, which has all spectrum of life that includes pleasure, recreation, rest, passive conduct and so on. It is ridiculous if we think we will be remembered only if we remain in the lime light. The benefit of our efforts always speak even in the absence of us and that freedom offers more projection that that could be generated out of self induced passion and adversity. When concern is established it is reciprocities and the contribution is without any expectations that there can be whole hearted participation and unconditional output. It must be realized the benefits are much above the expected output that reaches us without even a single move from our side. This effortless living comes out of self oriented contributions with transcendence. Self oriented approach is enforced here since the selfless attitude many times is free and is subjected to mindless contributions and leads to complications in the long run. Concern is effective scheduling with due proportioning of resources that it makes one confident of assured success.

CONCERN IS HOLISTIC

Sustainability and progression

SUSTAINABILITY IS ENGINEERED GROWTH AND SELECTIVE

Sustainability is towards compromise with a mass and moving towards set standards amidst criticisms and pull downs that the orientation is to sustain the existing status. But for the principles of evolution, nothing can persist, everything evolves on its own even if stringent measures are taken to control the growth. The resources remain boundless and the activities of the people in the existing scenario is to get liberated assuring best of connectivity for the needed situation that the greedy attitude to get fixed to a position is evading out. The core is getting established with the skills that there is no longer search for job to sustain life but the job itself is created for living. Progression on the other hand is not to meeting standards, but to enhance from where one stands that there is always conviction and suggestions to move up, contributions to development that there can always be satisfaction of all involved. This leads to self realization that the life standards improve and the mentality of the people grows up to include all. They will have the exposure to realize everyone has their own space to live and its design is to their choice that the intersection of interests will not be there. The progression makes all creations of nature to the best of use that there need not be resources conservation, but the use of resources to avail its life time purposefully.

power, wealth and knowledge. Illusions get hold of us and we will be forced to stick to them that we simply remain as being, and struggle for survival. The position as first is floating, thus we got to chase it, retain it ever in the fear of which we lost sight at the best opportunities available before us ready to serve us to be the best effortlessly. The quality of being best is with competency, out of routine and set an example ever. This is absolutely to our might and can make miracles that could chase away the preset illusionary margins. We can bounce and leap with assured success all depends only on our efforts. We don't have to create mass, generate support, compromise to remain intact with them, yet with conviction and justification, we do have the best of all true to the purpose and the same is not binding, exerting a pressure on us, but gives a mindful cooperation right in time. This makes effortless living. This gives utmost satisfaction. This gives the core of peace and amity that we set all others to a regulated forum which will have assured personal space to live with their mind focused to the purpose.

Conclusion

Unlike the routine to generate masses as majority, this article throws light upon the tactics of being a successful individual contributing the best to the society effortlessly. All that have been taught as routine and manners are getting reformed to individual specific activity that the self realization make them performing, skillful and resourceful by every means. Whatever may be the parameter of concern, the living is in the quality of service and not the quantity of service. This can happen only if the individual is relieved of pressures to lead a group but to generate the best of all. The best of a situation is boosted only when all concerned receives due responsibility. It is unfortunate that the majority wish to have a carefree life under the name of an individual which puts a lot load of responsibilities in the process of which he loses his self. He makes a group mindless and lethargy for which he pays his life and set to survive. We can live to our best if we suggest what we know out of experience and leave the decision to them. We ought to remain intact with our stance that the conviction makes them contribute their due. Life can be to our plan if we set our activities to our best. The contributions from others can then be a bonus. We ought to focus our activities to gain financial stability at a younger age and from then on our activities can be for society the outcome of which is bonus to us. This sort of transcendence makes us live for ourselves yet our contributions pays effortlessly. No single individual can lead the world, no single individual can bring in transformation. But an individual can transform the minds to perform that sets the status of world. It is in passive conduct, and in active participation only if needed. It is the era where the virtual space shares all the tough task of giving acceleration to an individual that there need not be efforts towards the same. The self motivated attitude of the internet era do not need advices and suggestions but contributions acceptable to their level that it is only possible to set self actualization. The solitude needed to set the self actualization is at its best of the social conduct through virtual space. It brings out the new you to the society, original to your strengths which is not boosted to set standards but activated to the best of a scenario.
